

E-FILED: May 17, 2013

NOT FOR CITATION
IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN JOSE DIVISION

KERANOS, LLC,

No. C13-80108MISC LHK (HRL)

Plaintiff,

v.

ORDER TERMINATING SILICON
STORAGE TECHNOLOGY, INC.'S MOTION TO COMPEL WITHOUT PREJUDICE

SILICON STORAGE TECHNOLOGY, INC.;
SEIKO EPSON CORPORATION; EPSON
AMERICA, INC.; FREESCALE
SEMICONDUCTOR, INC.; MICROCHIP
TECHNOLOGY, INC.; SAMSUNG
SEMICONDUCTOR, INC.; SAMSUNG
ELECTRONICS CO., LTD.; TOSHIBA
CORPORATION; TOSHIBA AMERICA
ELECTRONIC COMPONENTS, INC.;
TAIWAN SEMICONDUCTOR
MANUFACTURING CO., LTD.; TSMC
NORTH AMERICA,

Defendants.

On May 16, 2013, Silicon Storage Technology, Inc. (SST) filed the instant ancillary action, seeking an immediate in camera review to determine if some 470 pages of documents gathered in response to a non-party subpoena are privileged. On the record presented, the court declines to do so. To begin, this court has just received SST's papers; and, it is unrealistic to think that what SST would have this court do could feasibly be accomplished before the May 21, 2013 fact discovery cutoff. More to the point, there is no indication that anyone actually claims that the documents are privileged. And, SST says that it is still working on an agreement

1 that would permit STMicroelectronics (whom SST says holds the privilege) to review the
2 documents and determine whether the privilege will even be asserted. Additionally, SST's
3 papers raise the spectre of possible disputes over attorney-client privilege issues, and the court
4 declines to issue an order compelling production of the subject documents without the benefit of
5 hearing from all affected parties and non-parties, who currently are not before the court.

6 Accordingly, SST's motion to compel will be terminated, without prejudice to renew the 7 request if a claim of privilege is actually made and a dispute arises as to the production of the 8 documents. Be advised that this court does not entertain noticed discovery motions. Any such
9 future application must be brought to the court's attention via a Discovery Dispute Joint Report
10 (DDJR) in compliance with the undersigned's Standing Order re Civil Discovery Disputes. If a
11 DDJR is filed, this court will give it as prompt attention as is feasible. But, to the extent SST
12 has concerns about the May 21 fact discovery cutoff, those concerns will have to be addressed
13 to the court in the underlying action.

14 SO ORDERED.
